ABOUT FIGHTMND

FightMND was established in 2014 by Neale Daniher AO, Pat Cunningham and the late Dr Ian Davis OAM.

Their vision is a world free from motor neurone disease (MND), otherwise known as the Beast.

FightMND works towards its vision by raising awareness and funding vital research to improve the quality of life and find treatments and, one day, a cure for those living with MND.

Together we fight. Together, we move closer to a future without MND.

WHAT IS MND?

MND is the name given to a group of diseases impacting the nerves known as motor neurones.

They help tell the muscles controlling your movement, speech, swallowing and breathing what to do.

For those living with MND, the motor neurones controlling their movement stop working and die.

The muscles they once powered slowly weaken and waste and those living with MND are left motionless, mute and trapped in their once active bodies.

Today, 2 Australians will die from MND. Two more will be diagnosed.

There is no treatment for MND. There is no cure.
